Sample Document with Paragraphs

This is the first paragraph of the sample document. It contains multiple sentences that should be extracted as a single paragraph. The text extraction should work identically in both the original PaperMage and PaperMage-Docling implementations.

This is the second paragraph with different content. It should be recognized as a separate paragraph from the first one. Testing paragraph detection and structure analysis capabilities.

Section with a Heading

This text is under a heading and should be recognized as part of the document structure. It helps test heading detection and hierarchical document structure.